

'Supporting communities through entertainment and real human interaction'

MMI NEWS

Edition 1: January 2020

THREE SPECTACULAR YEARS

MMI hosted their third anniversary event on the 8th December 2019. Featuring act upon act of both local and professional talent and an award ceremony where volunteers and supporters were commended for all their help, it was a truly fantastic evening. The guests were simply captivated by the night as an electric buzz filled the room – faces ached with smiles and excitement radiated off every individual.

The MMI family was a real credit to the charity, as they welcomed guests and made everyone feel completely comfortable. Although it was anticipated to be a great night, no one could have prepared themselves for the successes of the evening.

The cliché is that 'it was a night to remember'; however, this could not be more true, as our hearts are still full, and we still rejoice over what was the most perfect way to celebrate three years of MMI.

WORDS FROM THE CHAIRMAN...

Mohammed Basharat founded MMI in 2016. He has watched the charity overcome leaps and bounds to get to the point it is at.

What was your highlight of 2019?

The highlight of 2019 for me was being invited to the Houses of Parliament to be given an award for our work and our contribution to the community. MMI was one of the 100 charities selected out of 6000. We were being recognised and acknowledged for our services to the community.

What has been your proudest moment since starting MMI?

My proudest moments over the last three years have been watching people come together; seeing them smile and get to know each other while helping and supporting one another. The immense satisfaction of seeing families and communities come together with big smiles on their faces has been hugely fulfilling.

What are your visions for 2020?

My vision for 2020 is to get an MMI website which is already well underway. The main vision for the whole team in 2020 though is to raise as much awareness about MMI as possible on all platforms, whether that be social media or word of mouth.

THE MMI CHRISTMAS PARTY

At MMI, we strive to continually promote equality and diversity. What better way to highlight this than to hold our very own Christmas Party? We held it on the evening of Christmas day, and it was simply a blast. The entertainment was perfect as always, with each performer adding to the room's sensational atmosphere.

WEBSITE LAUNCH: A MILESTONE IN MMI HISTORY

After 3 rewarding years, a complete rollercoaster of emotions and a journey like no other, we can finally say we have a website! Something that we didn't anticipate happening in a hundred years has actually happened, like a dream come true. This will transform MMI, taking us to the very next level.

Would it really be an MMI milestone if we didn't hold a launch party? On the 18th January, we had a party to celebrate the overwhelming joy we had built up as we saw the website go live that morning. It was, of course, a full house, with a feeling of utter happiness and love taking over the room.

A huge thank you to our sponsors, i-Tech Angels for enabling this dream of ours to become a reality. We are immensely grateful. If you are looking for website design and development, please call 0121 523 4052 for enquiries.
